Objectives

On completion of this lesson you will be able to

- identify useful classroom expressions
- use classroom expressions meaningfully

Pre activity

1. How do you greet your teacher in the morning?
2. How do you ask your teacher for permission to enter the class?
3. Mention a few expressions which you frequently use in classroom.
4. What does your teacher usually say before beginning the class?

Activity1Group

- Read the following conversation between the students and the teacher in a classroom.
- Enact it before answering the questions that follow.

Teacher: Good morning!

Students: Good morning!

Teacher: Ready?

Students: Yes!

Teacher: What were we discussing in the last session? Can anyone tell us?

Anand: Tenses.

Teacher: Good. To be precise, which tense?

Students: Past perfect tense.

Teacher: Very good. Now let's start discussing the next tense. Look here and try to identify the verb in these sentences.

(The teacher writes the following sentences on the board)

1. I had been living there for four years.
2. She had been working there for ten months.

Teacher: Ravi, can you come here and underline the verb in the first sentence?

Ravi: Yes, I can. (Ravi underlines the verb)

Teacher: Very good. Vani, can you come here and underline the verb in the second sentence?

Teacher: (Finding Vani nervous): Come on! Don't be nervous. You can do that.

Vani gets assured and underlines the verb.

Teacher: That's very good. Now open your books at page ten and complete the task at the top of the page.

A few students: Sir, please repeat the instruction. What you said was not clear.

Teacher: I said, "Open the books at page ten and complete the task at the top of the page."

1. What does the teacher mean when he says ‘ready’?

2. Can you guess the meaning of ‘here’ in “Look here”?

3. What does the teacher say to help Vani overcome her nervousness?

4. What do the students say to request the teacher to give the instruction again?

Activity 2

Individual

- Read the following expressions.
- Say whether they are likely to be used by the teacher or students.

Expressions	Teacher	Student
1. Copy this in your notebook.
2. Don't start yet now.
3. May I go out to talk to my father?
4. Go back to your place.
5. Give me some more examples.
6. First listen and then repeat what I said.
7. Settle down! Let us not waste time.

Activity 3Pair

What are some classrooms expressions used by students in the classroom in the following situations?

a) Greetings

b) Ask for permission to leave the class

c) Ask the teacher for clarification

d) Ask the teacher for a similar word in your mother tongue

e) Ask the teacher to extend the deadline for the submission

Activity4Group

- Discuss the expressions given below.
- Guess the situations in which they are used in the class.

By the teachers	By the students
That's all for today.. How many are absent today? Were you present on that day? Let's start the lesson. Open your books at page 10. Turn to page 10. Look at the first activity on page 24. Say it again. Why don't you say it loudly? Not all at once! Read the whole sentence. Who knows the answer? Say it after me. Go on, Suresh. Copy this in your books. Can you find what is missing here? Will you complete it in five minutes? Who is your partner? Don't have a discussion. I think it's your turn now. Start now without wasting time. Sit back-to-back. Stand in a circle. Raise your hands. That's much better now. Come to the front. Can you all see? Stop talking and listen to the dialogue. Please be quiet. Settle down first. Stand side by side. Work in groups of three. What did you say, Rani? Help me hang it there. Do you understand? Can you speak louder? What does it mean?	How do I say that? What is the Telugu word for it? I was absent on that day. May I ask a question? I'd like to answer. I haven't understood it. Can you please repeat it? I don't have the book. Which page did you say? We will form into a pair. Both of us will do that. Can we have a copy of that? How to begin it? It is not easy. Please permit me to go out. Please permit me to attend the class. I need to go to the bank. I don't find that task on page 10. I will submit the notes tomorrow. Where shall I keep this? Shall I switch on the fan? Shall I keep the door open? Please explain it again. Where should I write the address? Can we go a little early today? Why can't we have a class there? That room is not clean. That fan won't work. The lights are on. Vijay is absent today.. Do you need some more chalk? Please check my note book. Please suggest changes, if necessary. He is not in the room. All the students have left. Tomorrow is a holiday. Next session is on Tuesday.

Assignment 1

Fill the blanks with suitable expressions.

Teacher: Sharif, Why are you not doing the task?

Sharif: Sir, _____.

Teacher: Why? I think you had a book with you.

Sharif: Yes sir. I had one but _____.

Teacher: Where is John?

Sharif: _____ today.

Teacher: In that case, why don't you borrow a book from them?

Jane & Jagan: Instead of that, he can sit here and do the activity with us.

Sharif: _____ and we as a group will do that task.

Teacher: Ok. _____ in ten minutes.

Assignment 2

Using the following expressions, develop a conversation between the teacher and the students. It is not necessary that they should be used in the order you find them.

Good morning.

Have a nice day.

Do you understand?

So, how many tenses are there?

That's right. Let us discuss the present tense in detail tomorrow.

Tense means a form of a verb. Doesn't it mean time?

Can you answer?

Ramesh: Why?

Ravi: I have some important work at the Secretariat.

Ramesh: My friend, Mr. Das, is working there. Will you please give him this bag?

Ravi: That's not a problem. Could you please tell him about my work?

Ramesh: I will talk to him today. He will definitely help you. He is the Section Officer in the Department of Technical Education.

Ravi: Thank you.

Ramesh: Welcome.

Activity 2Pair

- Practice the following with your partner

Could Would Can Will	you	please	lend me some money accompany me to hospital? switch on the television? give me the menu? speak slowly? repeat the lesson? help me to reach railway station?
-------------------------------	-----	--------	---

Additional Information

The following are the expressions used to request someone to take you to hospital.
Starting from 'less polite' to 'more polite'

- Take me to hospital.
- Please take me to hospital.
- Can you please take me to hospital?
- Will you please take me to hospital?
- Would you please take me to hospital?
- Could you please take me to hospital?
- Do you think it would be possible for you to take me to hospital?
- Do you think you could please take me to hospital?

Please note that in addition to the words and sentences the way you request and your tone determines the degree of politeness.

Activity 3

May Shall Would Could	I you we	help you? get a glass of water? complete the task together? do it for you? like to have a cup of tea?
--------------------------------	----------------	---

Additional Information

Offering help is quite common in a conversation. It includes the meaning of suggestion. We offer help in a polite manner, when we find someone in trouble or in need. The following are some ways of offering help to others:

May I be of any assistance?

Is there anything I can do...?

I'll do it for you.

What can I do for you?

Do you think I can help you?

It's my pleasure to help you. Shall I?

Activity 5Pair

- Write in the space provided what you will say to offer help in the following situations.

6. _____ (Shall / Will) you make a cup of tea for me?

A clever, imagination, humorous request can open closed doors and closed minds.

6 Obligations

Expressing

Objectives

On completion of this lesson you will be able to

- express obligations
- express an order or a strong suggestion

Pre Activity

- Read the following sentences and identify the difference in meaning.
 1. He must take care of his health.
 2. He should take care of his health.
 3. He has to take care of his health.

Activity 1

Individual

- Look at the following dialogue and identify which words are used to express suggestion and obligation.

Patient: Is there anything serious, doctor?

Doctor: Nothing serious. But you must reduce your weight.

Patient: Am I obese?

Doctor: Yes. You are slightly obese. You should avoid oily foods.

Patient: Is there anything else I need to be careful about?

Doctor: Yes. You have to walk five km daily and you must not eat sweets and fruits.

Additional Information

Words must and have to are used to speak about obligations and compulsions. Let us observe the pictures and read the matter that follows. It will help to learn the difference in meaning.

www.sbtetworld.in

Policeman: You must wear a helmet.
You mustn't drive without helmet.

I have to wear a helmet.
(the person realises that the law demands)

In the first picture, the policeman uses the word 'must' and 'mustn't' to mean "It is the law". The words 'must' and 'mustn't' are used where you have no choice. Use 'must' and 'mustn't' to give orders where speaker has no choice but to accept the orders, or the law.

In the second picture, the speaker thinks that the law demands one to wear a helmet. He uses 'have to' to express external obligation or pressure from an external source. He may not like it but someone or something forces him to do it. In such situations "have to" is used.

Activity 2

Pair

- Give information to an S.S.C student on how to join polytechnic starting from the moment of applying for POLYCET to the first day at college.
- Use 'have to', 'must' and 'must not'.
- Note down the points in the blank space.

Additional Information

The word, should, is used to convey an obligation but you have a choice to follow it or not. Observe the pictures and read the sentences below. Learn the difference in meaning.

In the above advertisements, there are some suggestions. We are free to follow or ignore the suggestions. But the messages give us good advice. In everyday language we say the same things in the following way.

1. We should help old people.
2. We should not (shouldn't) drive fast.
3. We should keep our city clean and green.

Should means it is better to do. Always give suggestions using 'should'. In other words when 'should' is used, it is an obligation but you have a choice to do something as suggested.

Activity 2Pair

- Speak on 'healthy living'.
- Discuss and give each other proper advice.
- Use 'should' in your advice/ suggestion.

Example: You should cut out sugar and salt from your diet.

Additional Information

Have to / has to: expresses external pressure

Ex: He has to work in the night shift.

Had to: expresses past obligation.

Ex: I had to work very hard to earn money.

Shouldn't: expresses obligation.

Ex: You shouldn't drink while driving.

Needn't: expresses lack of compulsion or necessity.

Ex: I needn't go to the office today.

Must : expresses compulsion

Ex: You must be health conscious.

Common Errors

Incorrect	Correct
I must and should do it. Students are should be careful.	I should do it. or I must do it. Students should be careful.

Tips

- Use 'must' to express suggestion
- Use 'have to' to express external pressure.
- Use 'should' to express an obligation

Assignment 1

- Read the passage
- Express the ideas in your own sentences using 'should/shouldn't'.

First Aid for Burns

Put the burnt part under cold water and run plenty of cold water over it. This reduces the heat in the skin. It is important to do this for at least 10 minutes. Remove anything tight like a belt. Take off all jewellery. Then cover the burnt part with a clean non-fluffy cloth like a clean cotton pillowcase or a towel. Don't put butter, oil, or ointment on the burnt part. It only has to be cleaned again before treatment can be given. Then call a doctor or an ambulance.

First you should

Assignment 2

- Rewrite these sentences using 'must' or 'should' wherever applicable.
- I really need to get a haircut.
 - I strongly recommend you watch this movie.
 - Don't work too hard.
 - It is important to wear a helmet when you ride a bike.
 - Speak only in English every day.
 - Finish your work in time.
 - Enjoy your work.

Ex: I must get a haircut.

No one saves us but ourselves. No one can and no one may. We ourselves must walk the path.

Objectives

On completion of this lesson you will be able to

- learn to fix appointments
- learn to reschedule or cancel appointments

Pre activity

1. You want to take your mother to a doctor who is very busy. What will you do to ensure that you meet the doctor on the day you want?
2. Why do we fix appointments?
3. When do you reschedule or cancel the appointments?

Activity 1

- Read the following conversation pieces.
- Identify the phrases that are used to fix and cancel appointments.

Fixing Appointment:

Receptionist : Hello! Eduworld, Hyderabad

Kiran Kumar: Good morning. I am Kiran, a student of Diploma in Mechanical Engineering.

Receptionist: Yes. How may I help you?

Kiran Kumar: I want an appointment with the M.D.

Receptionist: May I know the reason sir?

Kiran Kumar; I need to talk to him about the prospects of doing B.Tech. in Russia.

Receptionist: When would you like to meet him?

Kiran Kumar: Will you please fix an appointment at 5.00 p.m. tomorrow?

Receptionist: O.K. Mr. Kiran. I have noted down in the diary. You have the appointment tomorrow at 5.00 p.m.

Kirtan Kumar: Thank you.

Receptionist: You're welcome.

Rescheduling appointment:

Receptionist: Hello! Eduworld, Hyderabad.

Kiran Kumar: Good Evening. I am Kiran. I have an appointment with the M.D. at 5.00 p.m. today. But I am sorry to say that I cannot be there by 5.00 p.m. as I am not feeling well.

Receptionist: Do you want me to reschedule the appointment?

Kiran Kumar: Yes. I want you to reschedule the appointment. Can I meet the M.D. at 10.00 a.m. on Monday?

Receptionist: Yes. You can meet the M.D. at 10.00 a.m. on Monday.

Kiran Kumar: Thank you.

Receptionist: Welcome.

Additional Information

There is an increased trend of fixing appointment both in personal and business matters. Fixing appointments in advance and adherence to it both by host and visitor is a good practice. It helps to

- avoid disappointments of host being not there
- avoid delays as the host is busy with others
- take into account the convenience of both the parties

Expressions used to fix an appointment

How about meeting on 30th of August?

Will you be free on 17th of this month?

How does the 3rd of June sound?

Shall we say...Monday?

Can I meet the Senior Engineer tomorrow?

Would Friday be convenient to you?

Could you please fix an appointment...?

I would like to meet the Vice-Chancellor for...

Activity 2

Pair

2. Request the receptionist to fix an appointment with the Neurologist on 12th August at 5.00 p.m.

Activity 3

www.sbtetworld.in

Pair

- Write dialogues for the following situations.
- Each one can be the caller in one situation.

1. Request the receptionist to reschedule the appointment with the surgeon as you are out of the town.

2. Due to the bad weather, you cannot practice cricket at Gymkhana ground. Request the coach to reschedule the time for today's practice?

Activity 4Pair

- Work in pairs as you have done earlier
- Each one can be the caller in one situation

1. Your boss wants you to go to Nizamabad to inspect the branch office there. Inform your friend that you cannot accept his invitation for dinner.

2. You cannot meet the teacher as you have to take your grandmother to hospital.

www.sbtetworld.in

Common Errors

Incorrect	Correct
We will meet tomorrow. Will we?	We will meet tomorrow. Won't we?
You met the Manager yesterday. Did you?	You met the Manager yesterday. Didn't you?

Tips

- Make a note of your appointments in your diary or planner and keep it handy.
- Be polite and mention the reason when you fix or reschedule or cancel an appointment.
- Inform well in advance to reschedule or cancel the appointment.

Assignment 1

Write a dialogue that takes place between you and the personal secretary of the Chief Engineer, Telangana Transco to fix an appointment with him to request him to accord permission to visit Bhoopalpally substation.

Extending and Accepting InvitationsObjectives

On completion of this lesson you will be able to

- learn how to extend invitations
- learn how to accept invitations

Pre activity

1. How will you invite your teacher to a farewell party?
2. Your friend has invited you to his sister's wedding. How do you accept the invitation?
3. You have been invited to a house warming ceremony. But you have some important work that day. How do you express your inability to attend the function in a polite manner?

Activity 1

- Read the following conversation between two friends and identify the phrases used to extend and accept invitation.

Mahi: Hai Gowri! How are you?

Gowri: Hai! I met you after a long time. How are you? Is there anything special?

Mahi: Yes. My brother's marriage has been fixed.

Gowri: Convey my congratulations to him. When is the marriage?

Mahi: The marriage is on the 10th of next month. Here is the invitation.

Gowri: Oh! The marriage is on Sunday.

Mahi: Please do attend the marriage. If you let me know your travel details, I will make necessary arrangements.

Gowri: Thanks for the invitation. I will definitely attend the marriage.

Activity 2Pair

- Invite your friend to do the following with you.
- Reverse the roles and use different expressions.
- An example has been done for you.

- Learn about the expedition

Pre-reading:

1. Who do you see in the above picture?
2. What do you know about Himalayas?
3. Have you ever been there?
4. What is the altitude of Mount Everest?

Read the passage:

Thirteen-year-old Malavath Poorna and 16 years old S. Anand Kumar reached to the top of the Mt. Everest at 6.00 am on May 25, 2014 after a 52-day long expedition. Poorna became the youngest girl to climb the world's tallest peak. She carried with her a photograph of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, the Tricolour & Telangana flags to unfurl on the top of the Everest summit in a plastic bag acquired from a fancy store in Secunderabad. Poorna was in Class IX from Social Welfare Residential Educational Institutions Society (SWREIS), Nizamabad District, Telangana State.

The duo was selected from 150 children, who were initially chosen for adventure sports as part of the society's initiative to promote excellence in the students of the society. Both the youngsters went through a rigorous training that took them from rock climbing lessons at Bhonagiri Rocks to scaling the 17,000 feet Mount Renock in the Kanchenjunga Range. They had to toil to get acclimatized to the atmosphere which was in minus 35 degrees Celsius in mountain ranges surrounding Ladakh to scale the Mt. Everest from the northern side of the People's Republic of China. Twenty of them were sent to a prestigious mountaineering Institute in Darjeeling for training and nine of them were sent on an expedition to Indo-China border. Eventually, the two students with a higher degree of toughness and endurance were sent for the Everest Expedition in April 2014.

When the going got tough during her ascent to the summit, Poorna recollected the Ten Commandments that the 'Swaeroes' (Social Welfare Aeroes) recite in times of adversity. 'I am not inferior to anyone, I shall be a leader, I will think big and aim high, I will never give up.....' In the last step of her climb, she was shocked when she saw six dead bodies. Poorna said at an interaction with the press that she recollected the Swaeroes, the ten commandants, my parents and Secretary.

Poorna referred to an IPS Officer, R.S. Praveen Kumar, the brain behind introducing adventure sports along with many other sports into the curriculum in order to build up the confidence among the youngsters who are socially and economically backward. "I cannot even describe how difficult the climb was, but I was fixed on fulfilling the dreams of Secretary Sir", Poorna, the daughter of Devidas and Laxmi, both agricultural labourers, said.

It was not the steep curves or the sharp edges or the biting cold that affected Poorna on her expedition. "I disliked preserved food", she confessed smiling. Her fellow 'Swaero', S. Anand Kumar (17), who was part of the team of climbers, agreed that the diet that was bland and unpalatable.

"My parents supported me throughout this phase and they were confident that I would come back successfully", said Anand, whose father works in a cycle shop. He said, "Now that I am back. I will have to focus on my education a bit more since I will enter college soon."

- read and comprehend the main idea
- appreciate a humorous narrative
- learn new words

Pre-reading

1. Do you have a pet?
2. What is it?
3. Where do you find a large collection of animals / birds kept in cages or enclosures?

Read the story and answer the questions:

- I. What is the story about?
- II. State whether the following statements are true or false.
 - (a) Grandfather loved to collect animals.
 - (b) Toto did not get along with the other pets.
 - (c) Grandmother did not like animals.
 - (d) Toto was a well trained pet animal
 - (e) Toto did not like women.

Grandfather bought Toto from a Tonga –driver for the sum of five rupees. Grandfather decided he would add the little fellow to his private zoo.

Toto was a pretty monkey. His bright eyes sparkled with mischief beneath deep-set eyebrows, and his teeth, which were pearly white, were very often displayed in a smile that frightened the life of elderly Anglo-Indian ladies. But his hands looked dried up. Yet his fingers were quick and wicked; and his tail, while adding to good looks (Grandfather believed a tail would add to anyone's good looks) also served as a third hand.

Grandmother always fussed when Grandfather brought some new bird or animal. So it was decided that Toto's presence should be kept a secret from her until she was in a particularly good mood. Grandfather and I decided to put him away in a little closet opening into my bedroom wall, here he was tied securely ___or so we thought___ to a peg fastened into a wall. A few hours later, when Grandfather and I came back to release Toto, we found that the walls, which had been covered with some ornamental paper chosen by Grandfather, now stood out as naked brick and plaster. The peg in the wall had been wrenched from its socket, and my school blazer, which had been hanging there, was in shreds. I wondered what Grandmother would say. But Grandfather didn't worry; he seemed pleased with Toto 's performance." He's clever," said Grandfather.

His presence in the house still a secret, Toto was now transferred to a big cage in the servant's quarters where a number of Grandfather's pets lived very sociably together ___ a tortoise, a pair of rabbits, a tame squirrel and for a while my pet goat. But the monkey wouldn't allow any of his companions to sleep at night; so Grandfather, who had to leave Dehra Dun next day to collect his pension in Saharanpur, decided to take him along.

Unfortunately I could not accompany Grandfather on that trip, but he told me about it afterwards. A big black canvas kit bag was provided for Toto. This, with some straw at the bottom, became his new abode. When the strings of the bag were tied, there was no escape. Toto could not get his hands through the opening, and the canvas was too strong for him to bite his way through. His efforts to get out only had the effect of making the bag roll about on the floor or occasionally jump into the air- an exhibition that attracted a curious crowd of onlookers on the Dehra Dun railway platform.

Toto remained in the bag as far as Saharanpur, but while Grandfather was producing his ticket at the railway — turnstile, Toto suddenly poked his head out of the bag and gave the ticket-collector a wide grin.

The poor man was taken aback; but, with great presence of mind and much to Grandfather's annoyance, he said, "Sir, you have a dog with you. You'll have to pay for it accordingly."

In vain did Grandfather take Toto out of the bag; in vain did he try to prove that a monkey did not qualify as a dog, or even as a quadruped. Toto was classified a dog by the ticket collector; and three rupees was the sum handed over as his fare.

Then Grandfather, just to get his own back, took from his pocket our pet tortoise, and said, "What must I pay for this, since you charge for all animals?"

The ticket – collector looked closely at the tortoise, prodded it with his forefinger gave Grandfather a pleased and triumphant look, and said, "No charge. It is not a dog."

One day Toto nearly succeeded in boiling himself alive. A large kitchen kettle had been left on the fire to boil for tea. And Toto finding himself with nothing to do decided to remove the lid. Finding the water just warm enough for a bath, he got in, with his head sticking out from the open kettle. This was just fine for a while, until the water began to boil. Toto then raised himself a little; but finding it cold outside, sat down again. He continued hopping up and down for some time, until Grandmother arrived and hauled him, half-boiled, out of the kettle.

One day, at lunch – time, a large dish of pullao –rice stood in the centre of the dining table. We entered the room to find Toto stuffing himself with rice. My grandmother screamed and Toto threw a plate at her. One of my aunts rushed forward –and received a glass of water in the face. Afterwards we found him in the branches of the jackfruit tree, the dish still in his arms. He remained there all afternoon, eating slowly through the rice, determined on finishing every grain.

And then in order to spite Grandmother, who had screamed at him, he threw the dish down from the tree, and chattered with delight when it broke into a hundred pieces.

Obviously Toto was not the sort of pet we could keep for long. Even Grandfather realised that. We were not well-to-do, and could not afford the frequent loss of dishes, clothes, curtains and wallpaper. So Grandfather found the tonga- driver ,and sold Toto back to him-----for only three rupees.
